"It takes something to be a Pioneer. You can't be one if you're a quitter." These words typify the spirit which is part of all Pioneers. They are active people; their lives are filled with classes, clubs, sports events, homework, and dances. But wherever an NHSer goes he behaves like a true Pioneer. It does take something to be a Pioneer. We at NHS have what it takes.

1800 Pioneers Occupy school In third year

Northwest's three-year old building has housed a lot of action in its short history. This year it sheltered 1800 Pioneers and 96 faculty members.

Our school contains the best of modern facilities which aid NHS students in their daily activities and offer settings for the most memorable and the comfortably routine episodes in Pioneer life. Pioneers are justly proud of their school building. It has given them something it takes to be a Pioneer: a deep feeling of pride, accomplishment, and responsibility.

Active NHSers Gain insight, Experience

As Northwest completes the third year of its existence, memories of hard work, good times, and personal fulfillment cause each Pioneer to look back at this year nostalgically. Those crowded halls, noisy lunchrooms, suspense-filled football games, messy lockers, orderly classrooms, and rousing pep sessions are but a few of the colorful pieces that form the picture of life at NHS. Every Pioneer should strive to blend into the picture of school life, for students are an essential part of it.

NHS faculty Leads Pioneer Activity, fun

Northwest's faculty fulfills the tradition of the Pioneers. Our teachers are highly educated. All hold Bachelor's Degrees; 75% have obtained Master's Degrees. They work to bring knowledge to their students in interesting and efficient ways.

Several faculty members have traveled extensively in order to supplement their factual information with true life experiences. Faculty members serve in other capacities, too. Many teachers act as coaches of athletic teams, as club sponsors, or as members of the Parent-Teacher organization.

Participation in all facets of school life is an important part of being a Pioneer. Northwest's faculty has proved it possesses this quality.

Academically

Pioneers have what it takes in scholarship. They strive to gain the most knowledge they can during their high school years. Many Northwest pupils achieve the ranks of the honor roll because part of being a Pioneer is doing the best work possible. Early pioneers weren't quitters when the going got rough; they continued to strive towards their goals without giving up and without complaining . . . so do Northwest's Pioneers.

Pioneer faculty provides 1 teacher per 19 pupils To educate NHS'ers

A school's foundation lies upon its administrators. The principal, vice-principals, guidance director, and deans comprise the administration.

Mr. Kenneth M. Smartz, principal, is a former dean of boys and vice-principal at Howe. He establishes for Northwest a high level of academic achievement. The operation of the entire school rests directly on his shoulders.

Mr. Smartz is assisted by two vice-principals, Mr. George N. Gale and Mr. Wayne H. Kincaid. Mr. Gale, a former football coach and dean of boys at Shortridge, is in charge of budgeting the finances of the school. He is also in charge of the facilities of the building. Mr. Kincaid, previously science department head at Manual, is the director of student and teacher programming.

Acting as senior class sponsor and director of guidance is Mr. Richard C. Cummins, a former basketball coach at Manual. He guides students in choosing classes and colleges.

Mr. Paul D. Heaton, previously the football coach at Connersville, is the dean of boys; Mrs. Constance Zimlich, who was involved in physical education at Butler, is dean of girls. They administer discipline when necessary to students.

Mr. Kenneth M. Smartz is principal and head Pioneer, Indiana Central; Indiana University A.B.; Butler University M.S., Ed.S.

Principal Kenneth M. Smartz officiates as the first NHS graduating class receives their diplomas. Ceremonies were on the mall; 342 were graduated.

Directing NHSers during monthly firedrills is Principal Smartz.

Mr. George N. Gale, vice-principal, is in charge of financing. Purdue University B.P.E., MSc. SE.; Butler University M.S.

Mr. Richard C. Cummins is Director of Guidance. Franklin College A.B.; Butler University M.S.; Indiana University.

Administration works To make Northwest's Rank, reputation high

Northwest students have reason to be proud of their able administrators. Two years ago when N.H.S. first opened, we were said to have one of the best faculties in the city. Now the faculty has increased to 96 in number and remains of the same high quality.

The six administrators at Northwest play an important role in making our school one of the most pleasant and efficient in the city. This goal is achieved by working approximately nine hours a day and many hours away from school.

The spirit of Northwest was exemplified by Principal K. M. Smartz' remarks at the first student convocation, "Help make Northwest the best." Pioneers strive for this goal along with the faculty members and staff. Through these efforts Northwest received a first class commission in its first year. This is a fine achievement for any school.

In only the second year of operation Northwest received North Central Accreditation. This is another remarkable event to add to our memories. This accreditation is given only to schools who meet the academic and the facility requirements set by the North Central Association.

Mr. Paul Heaton, Dean of Boys, instructs government. Indiana State, Ball State University B.S., M.S.

Mr. Wayne Kincaid is N.H.S.'s vice-principal in charge of programming. Purdue, B.S. Indiana University M.S.; Notre Dame; M.I.T.; Butler University.

Mrs. Constance Zimlich, Dean of Girls, teaches English and orientation. Indiana University B.S., B.P.E., M.S.

Numerous art courses Offer useful training To talented Pioneers

Pioneers gifted with a skill in art are offered five different courses in which to develop their talents. These courses perfect skills in drawing, lettering, design, painting, and illustration.

Craft art is for those who enjoy working with materials such as leather, wood, plastics, and clay. Jewelry classes study the design in materials of jewelry and metal craft. Lettering develops fundamentals helpful in commercial art, which trains a student for a career in design, fashion, figure drawing, and layout design.

Each art course teaches the student skills in a specialized field. J. Crump and T. Johnson won scholarships to study figure drawing at John Herron.

Artistic abilities brought many awards to Tom Johnson and Janet Crump including scholarships to John Herron Art School.

Mr. Ted A. Moore directs the N.H.S. evening division and heads the art department. Herron Art School B.A.; Butler University M.S.

Mr. Larry Apt instructs art and craft arts at N.H.S. Indiana State University B.S.

Mr. Joseph Reynolds teaches craft art and art; Indiana Central College B.S.; Herron Art School; I.U.

Mrs. Jeanette Reed heads the English department. Bradley University; University of Illinois B.S., M.S.; Indiana University.

Majority of teachers Hold master's degrees In English department

Readin', writin', and 'rithmetic are not the only subjects offered at Northwest. Because of the advanced culture in which Americans live, English is vitally important to the curriculum of all students. Of the 1,850 students enrolled in Northwest this year, 1,661 are taking English.

Because at least three years of English are required of each student at Northwest, various types of courses are available. English I, III, V, and VII are grammar and composition courses. Their purpose is to aid students with everyday speaking and writing. English II, IV, VI, and VIII are literature courses in which members of these classes study stories, essays, and great classics. For those students who want to increase their knowledge of specialized English, journalism and speech are offered. These courses assist students in public speaking and writing either for pleasure or for a living.

Since English is so important to each student enrolled in school, the English staff boasts the largest number of teachers, with the majority of them having Masters Degrees.

English students have the opportunity to enter numerous writing contests. Freshmen may enter the Sertoma Essay Contest. All Pioneers may submit poems, essays, and other types of literature to the city publication Skylines.

Mrs. Doris Bradford received an Indiana Central A.B. and a Butler M.A.
Miss Ann Bray received an Indiana University A.B., M.A.

Northwest Passages Displays literary skills In annual publication

Northwest's two year old literary magazine, Northwest Passages, provides recognition for creative Pioneers. Poetry, short stories, and essays are included in the publication. The English 4g and 6g classes, aided by faculty advisors, Mrs. Bradford and Mrs. Winter, produce the magazine. The writings which compose Northwest Passages are submitted by English teachers. All illustrations and the cover are created by pupils in advanced art classes. The magazine is printed at school and distributed in the spring.

Northwest Passages provides entertainment for the reader, literary experience for the staff, and recognition for young writers.

Northwest Passages, an annual publication of the English department, combines students' best literary works of each year. Student editors from junior and sophomore classes publish enough books for the entire school.

Mrs. Patricia Cupp instructs English and Latin. Ball State University A.B.

Mrs. Margarite Butz serves as assistant librarian. Ball State University A.B.; Indiana State University; Indiana University B.S.; Purdue University.

Mrs. Arwilda Burton teaches English. Indiana State University; University of Louisville B.A.; Murray State College M.A.

Stagecrews, reporters Spend many long hours In varied activities

Many hours of preparation have gone into each of Northwest's dramatic productions, especially in the making of the backdrops. The eleven members of the stagecraft class not only learn to prepare stage scenery but also develop the art of operating the lights and curtains.

Future journalists also keep busy at Northwest. The pupils of the journalism classes learn the fundamentals and do's and don't's of writing. Class members write personality sketches, opinion polls, convocation write-ups, and beat assignments for the paper. This training prepares capable and creative writers for the Vanguard and Telstar staffs of the future.

Simone Smiljanic and David Herring studied Japanese Haiku poetry during the literature semester of their freshman English courses.

Miss Maureen Cunningham instructs English and publications. She is director of publications and sponsors Cub Club, Quill and Scroll, and Vanguard. Indiana University B.S.

Mr. Jack Nieff teaches English and developmental reading. Butler University B.A., M.S.

Miss Barbara Lundford teaches English and physical education and is Silverettes sponsor. Normal College A.G.U., Indiana B.S.

Mrs. Linda Ford teaches English and speech. She sponsors the Speech and Drama Club and speech team and is the director of plays. Indiana University A.B.

Mrs. Mildred Edwards instructs freshman classes. Lindenwood College A.B.; Purdue University.

Pioneers develop skills In reading, research In reading lab, library

Reading plays an important part in the lives of all Pioneers. The NHS reading laboratory and library provide for all students the opportunity to improve reading skills and gain enjoyment through reading. In order to improve on their reading skills, students go to the reading laboratory one day a week in their English 2, 4, and 6 classes. All 9B's go to the reading laboratory in their orientation classes.

The Northwest library now takes 94 periodicals for the benefit of students and teachers alike. Three thousand new books have been added to the 2,000 volumes which the library originally contained three years ago. Both the library and reading laboratory provide better understanding through reading.

Mr. Robert Snoddy instructs junior-level English classes. Butler University A.B.

Mrs. Betty Niles is sponsor of the school newspaper, Telstar. She teaches journalism and English. Indiana State University B.S.; Indiana University M.S.

Mrs. Jane Patten instructs English and teaches students to better their reading in the developmental reading lab. Salem College; Duke University; Butler University A.B.

Mrs. Naomi Winter teaches senior English. She also sponsors the National Honor Society. North Central College B.A.; Indiana University M.S.; Butler.

Miss Phyllis Walters teaches English and stagecraft. She is also National Thespians Society sponsor Indiana State University A.B., M.A.

Mrs. Phyllis Young teaches English. Ball State University; Butler University B.S., M.A.

Mrs. Phyllis Casselman, head librarian, instructs library experience. Central Normal College B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Career-minded pupils Gain valuable training In business classes

By offering a wide range of courses, the Northwest business education department strives to prepare the business-minded student for the future.

Seven secretarial courses are offered including typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, machine calculation, business law, salesmanship, and clerical practice. Mrs. Marguerite Lamar acts as department head as well as instructor in the business department.

Typing classes contain more of the 1,015 pupils enrolled in these courses than any other course.

The latest varieties of electric and standard typewriters and calculators equip the business classrooms. The taped lessons are the most modern method employed in the instruction of shorthand.

Instructors help students realize the importance of business machine operation and procedures in an office-like environment. A new two-period class of combined shorthand, typing, and clerical practice prepares the student for office work. In this class students are graded for their work in Northwest's main office, as well as their choice of office dress. Business students as well as any other student interested may participate in the business activities club. The club's special project this year was providing Christmas gifts for mental patients.

Miss Marguerite Lamar heads the business department and teaches various business courses. Tulane University B.B.A., Butler University M.S.

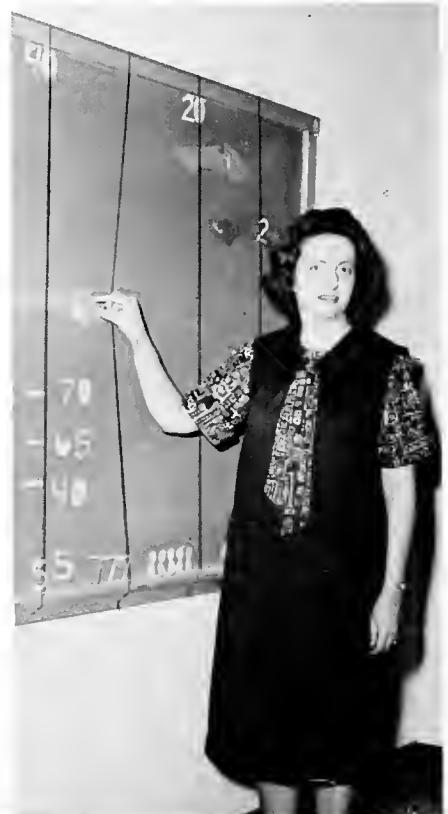

Mrs. Betty Jane Cedars instructs various business education courses. Butler University B.S., M.S.

Advanced shorthand gives Susie Offenbacher and Joyce Small practice in combining various skills learned in business education.

Mrs. Winona Bowers teaches business education, shorthand, and typing. Indiana State University; Butler University B.S., M.S.

Janet Baldwin found math much simpler in machine calculation.

Mrs. Marcia Showley teaches bookkeeping, typing, and shorthand. University of Illinois B.S.; Butler University.

Mr. James Toney instructs salesmanship, general business, typing, and business law. Indiana Central College B.S.

Coordination and rhythm are important to student typists.

Mr. Joseph Edwards instructs business education. Indiana University B.S., M.S.; Butler University.

Mrs. Donna Grubbs teaches business education, typing, and bookkeeping. Ball State University B.S., M.A.

Home economics pupils Train for future living In numerous courses

The aim of the home economics department is to prepare Pioneers for their future role as homemakers. To reach this goal the department offers six different courses.

Girls wishing to improve their cooking techniques are enrolled in foods classes where they learn the importance of nutrition and planning a well-balanced diet.

Many girls find sewing an interesting and useful subject. Besides offering pleasure, sewing is economical. In family living and home management, students learn to meet the physical, mental, and emotional necessities of self and family. Child care helps to develop the understanding and handling of children. In home nursing, students learn how to care for ill persons and invalids.

Several extra activities are intermingled with learning. Guest speakers from McCall's are frequently invited to discuss current fashions and sewing techniques with the clothing classes. Girls enrolled in food classes look forward to entering the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest. The foods classes also plan, prepare, and serve the food for luncheons and teas at Northwest. With the help and guidance of the five teachers, in the home economics department, Northwest Pioneers develop many useful skills in the field of home economics.

Miss Jean Sharp heads the home economics department and teaches home nursing and child care. Butler University B.S., M.S.

Mrs. Ellen Stern teaches home education, foods, and clothing classes. Purdue University B.S.

Mrs. Marylee McCammack received an Indiana State University B.S., M.S.

Miss Sylvia Byrd sponsors the Red Cross Club. Purdue B.S.

Mrs. Jeanie Shelton instructs home economics. Purdue University B.S., M.S.

Industrial arts course Gives Pioneers chance To develop trade skills

Mr. Wathen Leasor, department head, teaches mechanical drawing and advanced drawing. Indiana State University B.S., M.S.

An assortment of sounds including that of presses and wood and hammer meeting may be heard in the industrial arts wing at Northwest. In the diversified industrial arts curriculum a student may select woodshop, electric shop, power mechanics, graphic arts, and all phases of drafting. General Motors sponsors a Motor Tune Up Contest in the spring that students at Northwest as well as other schools may enter. In its third year of operation the NHS industrial arts department would be a fine asset to the curriculum of any high school.

Mr. Donald Lucas instructs power mechanics. Indiana State University B.S.

Dr. Gilbert Shuck instructs mechanical drawing and woodwork at Northwest. Ball State University B.S.; Purdue University M.S., Indiana U. Ed. D.

Mr. Norman Tripp received a Ball State University B.S.; Indiana University M.S.

Mr. Robert Groomer teaches metals and graphics arts. Indiana State B.S., M.S.

Mr. Willard McNees teaches electricity. Purdue B.P.E.; Indiana University M.S.

World communications Bettered by students Through language study

French, Spanish, Latin, and derivatives are the courses offered to the 566 pupils enrolled in the Northwest language department. Besides their major teaching area, Spanish and French classes concentrate on promoting better communications with foreign countries. A basic background of the western civilization and a greater understanding of the English language comes through the study of Latin. Derivatives develops vocabulary by teaching students to break words down into their basic roots.

Students find several activities to participate in and honors to achieve through language classes. The I.U. Honors Program for high school French, Latin, and Spanish pupils offers awards to 30 outstanding linguists in Indiana. Through national tests, the AATF and the AATSP, high ranking pupils are determined in French and Spanish respectively. Top Latin pupils may attend the I.U. Latin workshop.

Mrs. Fimie Richie, language department chairman, instructs Spanish I and II. Indiana University A.B.; University of Arizona M.A.

Mr. Carsey Gentry teaches Spanish and sponsors the International Club. Indiana Central College B.A.

Mrs. Mildred Stevens teaches French. Milton College B.A.; University of Wisconsin M.A.

French, Spanish, and Latin students take advantage of language lab.

Miss Marjorie Rork instructs students in Latin and derivatives. Gulf Park College; Butler University A.B., M.S.; Indiana University; University of Wisconsin.

Music-minded Pioneers Display concert talent Throughout school year

Mr. Darrel Horton is the director of the Pep Band, the B Band, the Dance Band, and the A Band. Butler University B.M.

Three teachers direct 329 students in the music department. These pupils are divided into ten daily classes which consist of band, orchestra, girls and boys choruses, choir, concert club, and ensemble. They perform for the N.P.T. meetings, school musicals, and contests. Musically-minded students may attend the Indianapolis Public School Summer Music Camp, the I.U. Summer Camp or the Ball State Summer Workshop. Brenda Cannon and Laura Maxon attended a music institute at Ball State last summer. Dan Sommer, attended a music camp.

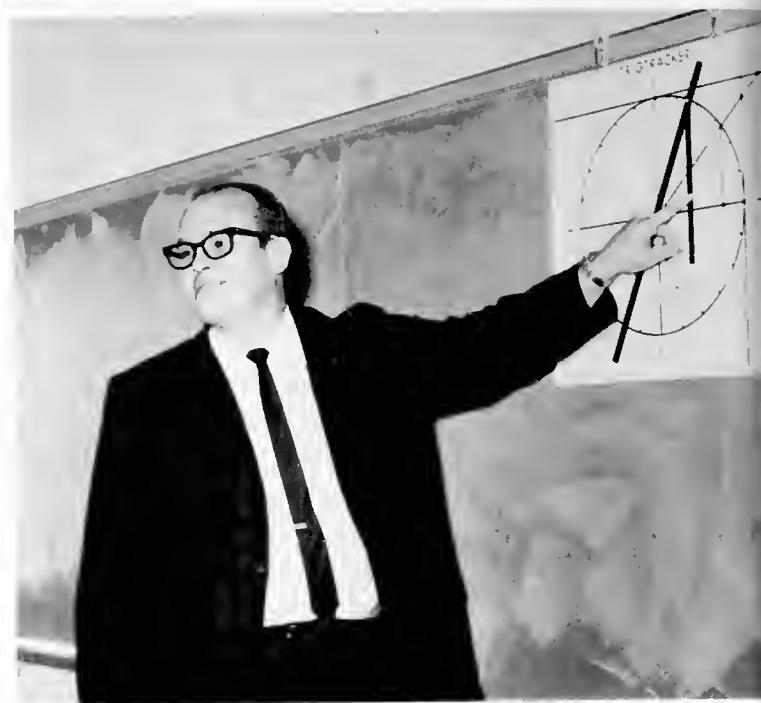

Mr. Jack Eaton directs the Choir and Ensemble and the boy's and girl's chorus classes. Ithaca College B.S.; Jordan College of Music, Butler University, M.M.

Dr. Samuel Siurua heads the music department and teaches Concert Club and Orchestra. Chicago Music College B.M.E., B.M., M.M.E.; Indiana University Ed.D.

Contests, workshops Encourage math pupils For advanced studies

Mathematics provides a basis for measurement, calculations, and logical thought. Every Pioneer must take at least two years of math. NHS offers six different math courses. General math and algebra give students the fundamentals of mathematical principles. Advanced courses include trigonometry, college algebra, and analytic geometry.

A number of summer workshops are held for students especially interested in furthering their knowledge of math. Pioneers who are mathematically talented may enter the State Math Contest and the contest sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America.

Mr. James Ballinger teaches algebra, trigonometry, and general math. Ball State University B.S., M.A.; Fordham University.

Mr. Everett Anderson is a N.H.S. instructor of geometry, algebra, and general math. Wabash College B.A.; Butler University M.S.; Purdue University.

Mr. William Saler heads the math department and teaches algebra, college algebra, and general math. University of Nebraska B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Mr. Lynn Youngblood teaches geometry, algebra, and general math. Indiana Central College A.B.; Butler; Purdue.

Mr. Larry Tubby teaches geometry, algebra and general math. Indiana State University B.S., M.S.

Miss Eileen Beckett received an Indiana University A.B., A.M.

Mr. Robert Calkins sponsors the Amateur Radio Club. Purdue B.S.

Mr. Robert Burns received an Indiana State B.S., M.S.

NHS promotes fitness With required courses In physical education

Seven hundred ten students at NHS keep physically fit by attending physical education classes daily. They exercise, play games, and practice good sportsmanship. All freshmen are required to enroll in these classes for at least two semesters.

The teachers in the girl's physical education department lead 281 freshmen and 68 advanced students in various physical activities. Upperclassmen serve as assistants to the teachers.

The 361 boys involved in physical education are supervised by two teachers who are also aided by student assistants.

Health classes are included in the physical education program. Health is a subject required for graduation. Students sixteen years of age may enroll in driver education classes where they learn respect of the roads, traffic rules, and defensive driving.

Mr. William Treichler, head of the physical education department, coaches varsity wrestling. Indiana University B.S., M.S.

Mr. Tom Cousineau instructs driver's education and boy's physical education and is assistant football and wrestling coach. Indiana University B.S.

Mr. David Hine teaches students the fundamentals of good hygiene in health and safety. Hanover College B.S., Butler University M.S.

Mrs. Shirley Thompson received an Indiana State B.S.; Butler University, M.S.

Mr. James Ritter is basketball coach, Purdue B.P.E.; Butler University, M.S.

Mrs. Lillian Resnick teaches health and safety and also takes care of the aches and pains of Northwest students in her role as school nurse. Indiana University G.N., A.B., M.S.

Mr. Vernon McCarty teaches students the fundamentals of engine construction and courtesies of good driving in driver's education class. Indiana State University B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Sociology, geography New courses offered To studious Pioneers

The 1,298 students enrolled in the social studies department have nine subjects to choose from, two of which are new this year. Social problems is a senior elective which was first offered in the fall semester of 1965. It is a study of man and society through the forces which shape and motivate. In this class, emphasis is placed on man's social environment, the changing nature of modern society, and the problems created by these changes. World geography is a new subject also. It was offered in the 1965 fall semester. This elective is a study of geography in terms of man's dependence upon and use of nature. Students learn how geography has affected the development of different countries. This gives them a sound basis for solving the vital social, economic, and political problems.

Miss Nancy Adams heads the social studies department. Butler University B.A., M.A.; St. Louis University; American University.

Mr. Larry Compton teaches world history and coached freshman football and track. University of Louisville B.S.

Mr. Peter Davis teaches government, economics and U.S. history. Indiana Central College A.B.; Butler University M.S.

Students in government and U. S. history classes hold mock elections for the experience of taking an active part in American politics.

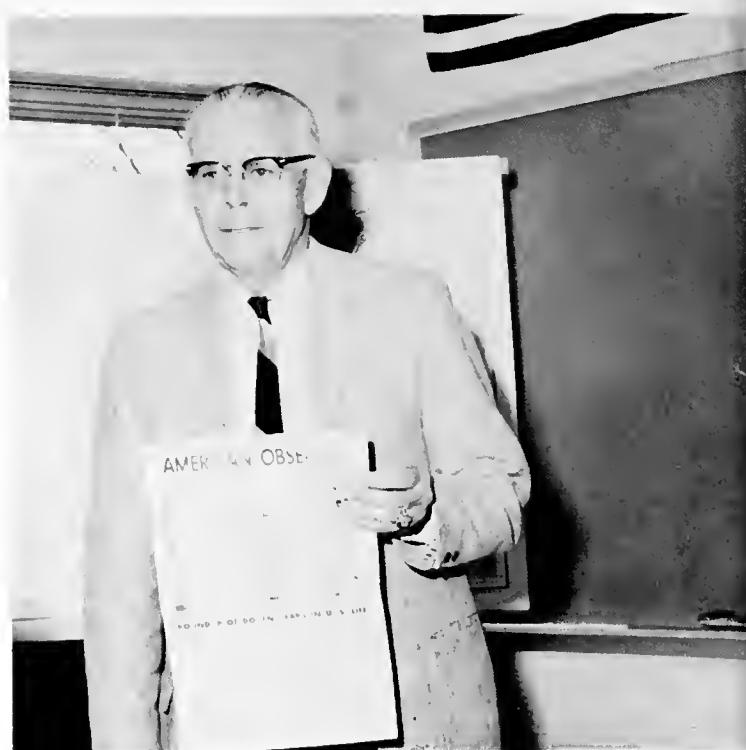

Mr. Ralph Horn received Indiana Central B.A. and an M.A. at the University of Kentucky.

Mr. Claud McKinsey teaches U. S. history and world history. Butler University; Indiana University A.B., M.A.

State voting process Learned by students In annual mock election

Annual mock elections offer competition for U.S. history and government students. These elections, sponsored by the social studies department, consist of two parties, the Nationalist and Federalist. Each party nominates its candidates for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, and other state, county, and city offices. Vigorous campaigning follows the nominations, and students go all out to back their candidates. Finally students of each class go to the polls and vote for the candidates of their choice.

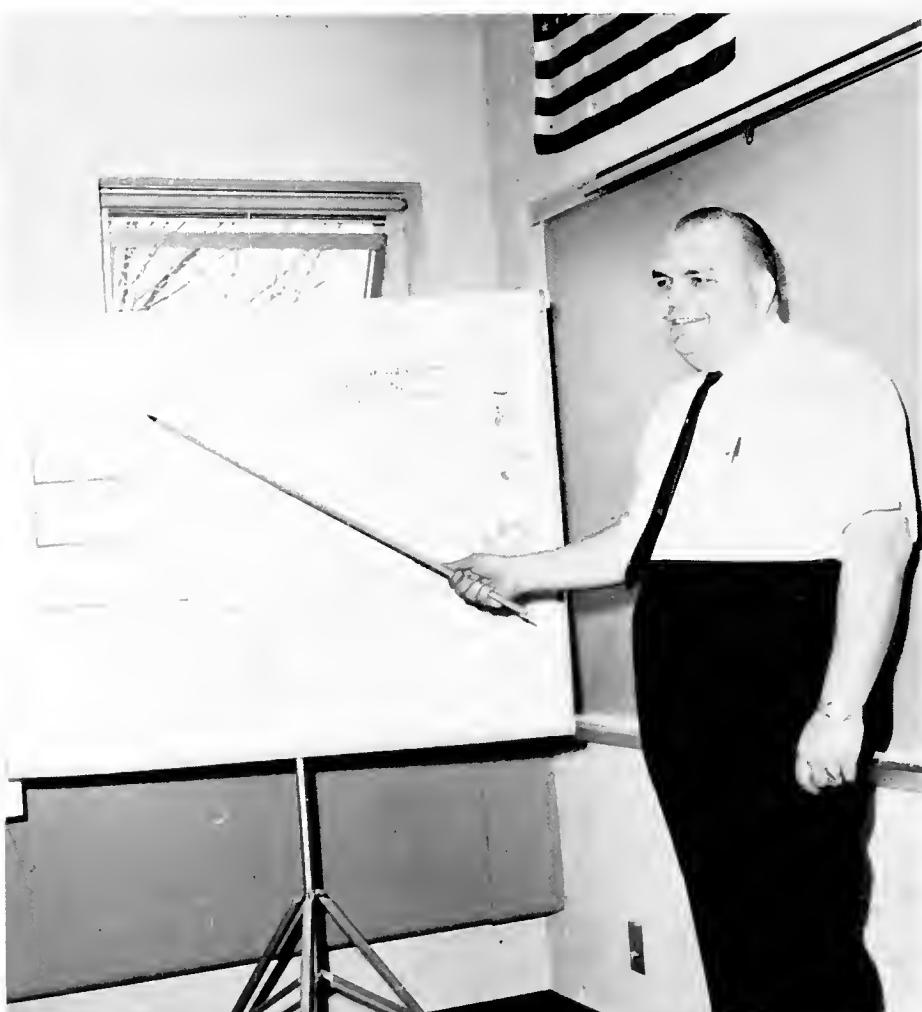

Another challenging contest is the Lilly Endowment Scholarship Contest. Seniors in the upper twenty-five per cent of their class are eligible. First and second place prizes are a $1,000 and $500 scholarship for any college.

Dr. Russel Merkel teaches U. S. history and world history. Southern Illinois B.Ed.; Indiana University M.S., Ed.D.

American Observers help Tanya Cardinal understand current events.

Mr. Richard Moore received B.S., I. U. and an Indiana State University M.A.

Miss Yovanka Savich, who teaches world history and Latin American civilizations studied in Paris last summer on a Fullbright Scholarship. Butler University B.A., M.A.

Mr. Cleve Thrasher instructs pupils in world geography and freshmen in advanced classes. He received an Indiana University A.B., M.S.

Mr. Paul Schnepf received an Indiana University B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Varied sciences offer Pupils choice depending On interests, ability

A minor in science is a requirement for every Pioneer. The different classes offered are physical science, biology, physics, chemistry, and earth science. To vary the usual classroom procedure, classes go on field trips. Making leaf and insect collections, conducting experiments, and viewing films are interesting activities that aid in learning. Each course teaches students the basic fundamentals of nature and life.

Students who are especially talented in science can enter the Science Seminar.

Mr. James Rodeheffer heads the science department and teaches chemistry. Ohio State University M.A.; Purdue University M.S.

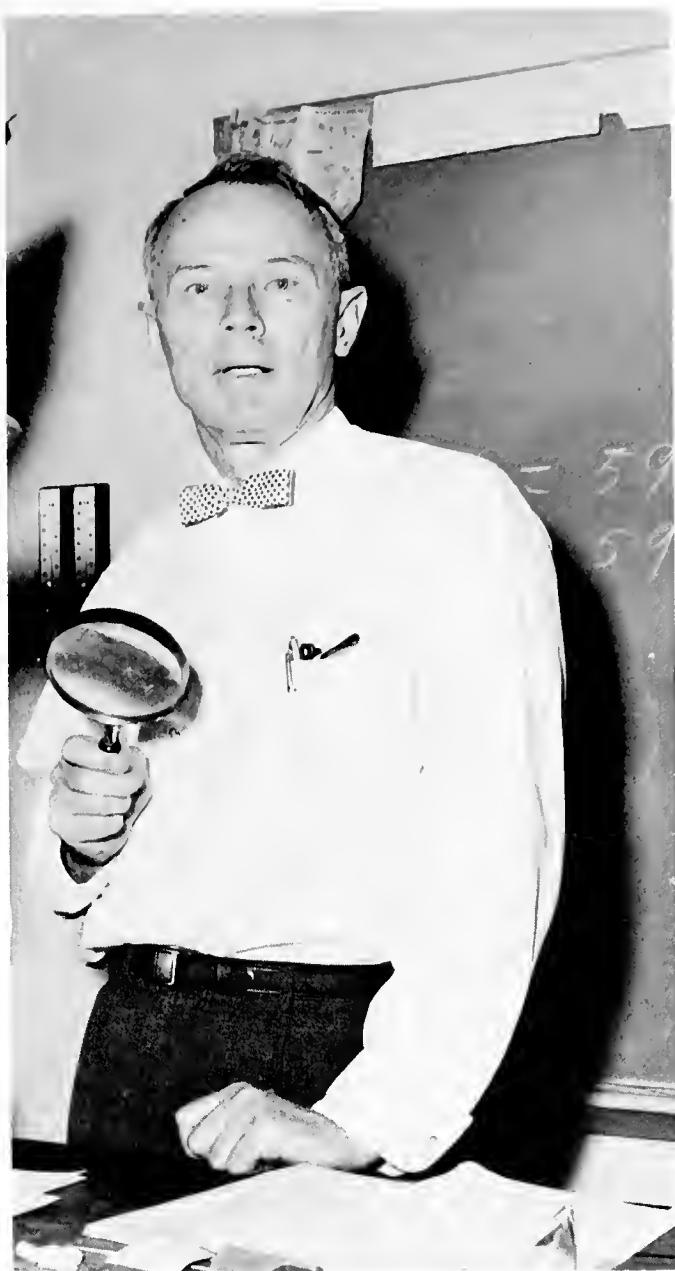

Mr. James Albright attended Hanover B.S.; Ball State; Butler University.

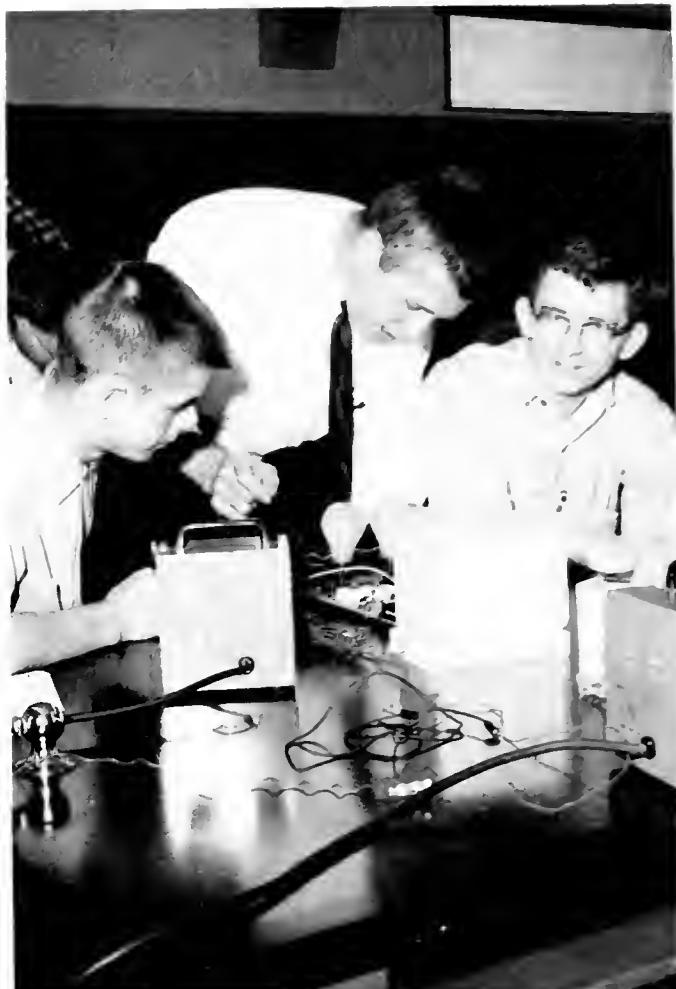

Mr. E. W. Berrey received Purdue B. S., and a University of North Carolina M.P.H.

Mrs. Jacqueline Bailey received a Purdue University B.S., M.S.

Mr. P. D. Burkhalter teaches physical science and sponsors the Conservation Club. Indiana University A.B., M.S.

Mr. Robert Canner teaches physics. Hanover College; Butler University B.S., M.S.; Colorado State University M.A.T.

Mr. Bruce Hamman received a Butler University B.S., M.S.

Four science courses Offer wide study area To youthful scientists

Four different science courses at N.H.S. are interesting as well as educational. Physical Science is the basis for the other sciences. The ten physical science classes learn the fundamentals of physics, chemistry, geology, meteorology, and astronomy. Demonstrations and experiments are used.

Every Pioneer participates in a biology class. These classes often take field trips during the school year. Twenty biology classes are now learning the habits of both plants and animals and their influence on humans. They learn to use the microscope, and they become familiar with anatomy by dissecting small animals. An addition to the science curriculum this year is a new Biology. In this class students have an opportunity to experiment more than in the regular biology classes.

Strange odors in the science wing come from the chemistry rooms. Chemistry consists of experiments and films as well as lectures. Scientifically minded students learn through experimentation and study the structure and composition of materials.

Advanced science students may study physics, in which they learn basic laws and principles of the earth and universe and apply them practically.

Earth science is the study of the earth itself. Students examine rocks, soil, and other materials that compose the earth's surface.

Mr. David Hyten teaches biology and physical science. Indiana Central College A.B.; University of Michigan M.S.

Mr. Donald King instructs chemistry and physical science students. Marion College B.S.; Ball State University M.A.

Mr. Charles Leamon is the director of athletics at N.H.S. He also gives classroom instruction to biology students. Butler University B.S., M.S.

Mr. Leland Lemme teaches physical science and earth science. Oakland City College B.S.; Evansville College; Butler University M.S.; Indiana University.

Mrs. Phyllis Loffland teaches chemistry. Indiana State University B.S., M.S.; Butler University; Purdue University; Indiana University.

Mr. Don Stone, a basketball assistant received a Butler B.S., M.S.

Mr. Richard O'Brien received an Indiana University B.S., M.S.

Mr. David Richards instructs students in biology. Ball State B.S.; Biology University of the South.

Guidance instructors Plan year's schedule With each NHS pupil

Mr. Kramer is 8A-9B counselor and also serves as an instructor in orientation classes. He helps freshmen students "iron out" their little, and sometimes big, problems as new students in a new learning environment.

Mr. Brown and Miss Hibbeln serve as junior advisors. The junior year of high school can prove to be the deciding year in the life of a high school student planning to go to college. Mrs. Blough, sophomore counselor, helps students plan their upper-classmen years.

Mr. Jack Brown instructs business education and is a guidance counselor. Indiana State University B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Mr. Donald Kramer is a guidance counselor to 8th grade pupils entering Northwest and freshmen students. He also teaches freshman biology students. Indiana University B.S.; Butler University M.S.

Miss Diane Hibbeln teaches shorthand and typing and serves as a guidance counselor. Ball State B.S., M.A.

Mrs. Judith Blough is a guidance counselor and teaches English and orientation. Butler University, B.S., M.S.

Able personnel perform Valuable school duties For building, Pioneers

Northwest's various staffs form an integral part of school life. Cafeteria workers capably managed the lunchroom and kitchen, doing their best to serve healthful food in sanitary surroundings. The maintenance staff helped keep NHS clean and smoothly run. Staffs in the attendance, main, and guidance offices and the bookstore tackled endless secretarial work. The top organization of three librarians helped many students find research easier. The Pioneer quality of willing service was always evident.

KITCHEN STAFF—Front Row: N. Barnes, L. Fields, A. Johnson, T. Heaton, E. Brunson, B. Morgan, M. Goldey, E. Fryman, M. Ballinger, H. Carter, B. Robinson. Second Row: J. Pruett, M. Harrington, P. Ken Abbott and Shirley Grider were runners-up and Kathy Landreth and Ellen Albro were finalists in National Merit.

Freshman Lonny Huber received a $50 government bond when his essay, "Freedom Is Our Heritage," won the Sertoma Contest.

Special talents gain Reward for Pioneers In various areas

Northwest students achieved honors over and above required school work. In keeping with the Pioneer tradition, NHS'ers spent extra time and put forth added effort to gain personal fulfillment and a life-long sense of accomplishment. Varied activities and programs contributed to the building of character while raising the quality of student achievement at Northwest High School. Many Pioneers proved their worth while enjoying many facets of school life.

Student Council Officers—Kean Salzer, secretary; Denny Turner, president; Marilyn Noll, treasurer; Rod Smith, vice-president.

Science Seminar—B. Kirkpatrick, E. Clendenin, R. Farmer, C. Meyers, R. Riggs.

Patti Donnelly won the Betty Crocker Homemaker Award.

Jim Forry, Mark Lawson, Joe Pearson attended Boy's State.

Exercise In Knowledge panel were seniors E. Clendenin, J. Forry, Mr. Rodeheffer, sponsor; S. Grider, and K. Landreth.

Actively

A wise student knows the value of well-rounded school life. Northwest offers unlimited opportunities for useful and enjoyable activities in the form of 29 sponsored organizations.

Each Pioneer can choose the activity that suits him best and interests him most. NHS's program of extra curricular activities are designed to prove that, actively, it takes something to be a Pioneer.

Honor society promotes Character, scholarship, Service, leadership

Character, scholarship, leadership, and service were the goals achieved by the 45 members of the National Honor Society. Students in the upper 10% of their junior class or the upper 15% of their senior class were eligible for candidacy.

A first for the Society was the initiation of a tutoring service in which Society members helped other students in their weak subjects. Members also ushered for school programs, and many served on committees dealing with special Society activities. The tapping ceremonies for the third chapter of the Society took place this spring.

HONOR SOCIETY OFFICERS—Jim Forry, treasurer; Ken Abbott, vice-president; Ellen Albro, secretary; Joe Pearson, president.

Quill and Scroll offers Challenge, initiative For NHS journalists

Quill and Scroll, the national honorary society for high school journalists, obtained its second Chapter at Northwest this year. Students who worked on school publications, received a recommendation from their sponsor, and passed nation-wide requirements could qualify for Quill and Scroll.

Sandy Davis and Sherri Leonard, the two remaining charter members, and Miss Maureen Cunningham, advisor, planned the '66 initiation.

Members also began plans for the annual Quill and Scroll Press Day for all Indianapolis High Schools that will be sponsored by Northwest next year.

Production of Telstar Is major objective Of NHS journalists

Assignments, stories, interviews, deadlines! The mad rush of a newspaper made its full cycle every two weeks at Northwest.

Reporters and journalism students gathered material on coming events, news stories, humor, and department news to make the eight-page Telstar as interesting as possible to all different groups of Pioneers. The Telstar staff, supervised by Mrs. Betty Niles, made a semester change in editors and staffs.

A branch of the Telstar staff was the News Bureau which wrote stories for the city newspapers and other outside publications.

Shirley Grider and Phyllis Cook each served one semester as editor-in-chief of Northwest's school newspaper, the TELSTAR.

TELSTAR STAFF—J. Sanchez, J. Lowman, K. Abbott, B. Kirkpatrick, C. Guleff, M. Evans, S. Offenbacher, M. Harrington, P. Cook, C. Beckham, S. Grider, E. Albro, V. Leonard, C. Elliott, B. Wills, L. Norman.

Northwest activities Are reviewed annually In Pioneer yearbook

The production of a yearbook takes time. First a theme is decided and then a layout is formed. Many hours of writing, re-writing, photographing, and developing follow. Twelve editors under the supervision of Miss Cunningham, sponsor; Sherri Leonard, editor-in-chief, and Sandy Davis, associate editor, tackled the job of indexing, writing, and gathering materials for sports, activities, and academic sections.

The business side of Vanguard also kept busy as the staff planned two selling campaigns. Editors and staffers promoted Vanguard through songs, skits, and announcements.

Pioneer marching band Adds color, interest To N.H.S. sports events

Forward march! Following this command were sixty-six Pioneers of the marching band. Directed by Mr. Darrel Horton, these marching Pioneers proudly represented NHS in many events. Led by drum major Dan Sommer, the band provided half-time shows at football games. The band also participated in the Jamboree and local parades. A first division rating was received when they entered the State Marching Contest.

As the band blasted out, the six majorettes, six flag twirlers, and twenty-six Silverettes were on hand to add color to the parade.

Pep band, orchestra Entertain, perform At many events

Two musical groups that performed at school functions were the orchestra and the pep band.

The eighteen members of the orchestra played at assemblies and the Christmas program. Several representatives were chosen from this group to represent Northwest in the all-city orchestra.

Boosting the moral of the basketball team was the main interest of the pep band. The thirty-nine members provided entertainment at home basketball games and pep sessions.

Musical enthusiasm was provided by the Pioneer pep band at home basketball games. They also accompanied the marching Silverettes.

Better understanding Of important events Is history club goal

Participating in discussions, viewing films, and listening to guest speakers developed a better understanding of past events for the thirteen members of the History Club. A historic sight-seeing trip of Chicago was taken during spring vacation.

Discussing history in the making was the main interest of the NHS Current Events Club. At the once-a-month meeting the members expressed their ideas on such matters as Vietnam and other events occurring around the globe.

Spirited cheerleaders Display rhythm, pep In prize-winning yells

Fourteen enthusiastic cheerleaders were always eager to boost school spirit as they led the hysteria from the sidelines. Members of the varsity placed first in daily competition at the Young America Fair.

Seven girls spent a summer's week at Smith-Walbridge Cheerleading Camp and brought home nine blue ribbons.

The cheerleaders planned pep sessions, made posters, perfected new yells, made up cheerblock routines and chants, and acted as the official hostesses at the Coliseum Sectional this year.

M. Harrington, T. Lane, M. Noll, S. Leonard, and B. Atkinson spent many evenings planning pep sessions and creating routines.

As the curtain went up and the lights flickered, many Pioneers enjoyed a number of productions throughout the year. The biggest musical event was the all-school production of "Music Man." Jim Decker and Barbara Tipps captured the leading roles and scores of NHS'ers provided acting and backstage support. The NPT supplied the audience for the Thespian production, "Stones Cry Out", and "Inherit the Wind" ended the dramatic productions for the year.

Career in instruction Goal set by members Of Future Teachers

Future teachers increased their interest in teaching as a career by hearing various discussions. "Head Start", an educational program for the poor, was one topic. Other speeches were given on the different aspects of teaching.

A state convention of Future Teachers took place this spring at Northwest. Members acted as official hostesses to the six hundred students who came from all over Indiana.

Demonstration engines were observed by the fifteen members of the Power Mechanics Club. These and other visual aids were shown to the mechanically minded Pioneers who worked on shop equipment and 4-cycle engines. A tune-up contest at the Motor Speedway provided practice and enjoyment for members.

Challenge coupled with intellectual logic and stimulation was fulfilled through the Northwest Chess Club. Members participated in meets with other schools and intramural tournaments. Ranking high in competitive chess were David Dial, Ed Dundas, Ronnie Plew, Robert Llewellyn, and Jim Rose.

Guest speakers help Speech, drama clubbers Perfect vocal talents

Promoting interests in the fields of speech and theater is the purpose of the Speech and Drama Club. Future theatrical personalities worked many hours in preparation for the presentation of "Music Man" in November and three other plays throughout the year.

With the performers were many behind-the-scenes committees who worked with technical skills, such as make-up, costumes, and scenery. Besides the production of school musicals and plays, the Drama Club members participated in several speech contests and debates. The 25 members of the club attended an Indianapolis Civic Guest League Lecture.

To honor superior work in speech and dramatics Northwest formed the National Thespian Society Troup 2625. Members of the society were active in various aspects of play-production and participated in speech contests.

"Stones Cry Out", a play about communism, was presented at an N.P.T. meeting as a special project in which all Thespian members participated. Two other plays, "Inherit the Wind" and "The Curious Savage," along with "Music Man", an all school production, were projects in which Thespians produced, directed, and acted. Students receive points for Thespians by participating in school productions.

Meredith Willson's "Music Man" production at Northwest combined the efforts of dramatists, choir, pit band, stagecraft and

Business, sales clubs Offer extra training To interested NHSers

Interesting speakers, slides, and style shows enabled the forty members of the Business Activities Club to better understand the everyday procedures of the business world.

The club heard speeches on job opportunities, communication in business, charm, and careers. This year they attended a style show at the Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Organized as a service club, the Sales Management Club assisted in all school productions. Members promoted plays by making posters. They also sold tickets to all auditorium presentations.

'66, first homecoming; Various kings, queens Liven school routine

Queenships added an occasional glimpse of glamour to the routine year. Senior Linda Switzer was selected by the football team to reign over the annual city-wide Jamboree. The yuletide season brought senior Sherry Perkowski the honor of being NHS's Princess of Light in the Christmas Parade. A first for Northwest was Homecoming which honored the class of '65. Melody Pallay was crowned from among the five seniors vying for the first Homecoming queen title.

Athletically

In athletics there is no room for quitters. Throughout the year, our Pioneers proved that Northwest was the school to beat in any contest. Because they never lost their determination or failed to play any less than their best at a given time, our teams improved their records greatly in all major sports. We at Northwest know that an unsportsmanlike attitude and a reputation for quitting never helped to build character.

Footballers finish 5-5 Turner most valuable, Pottenger high scorer

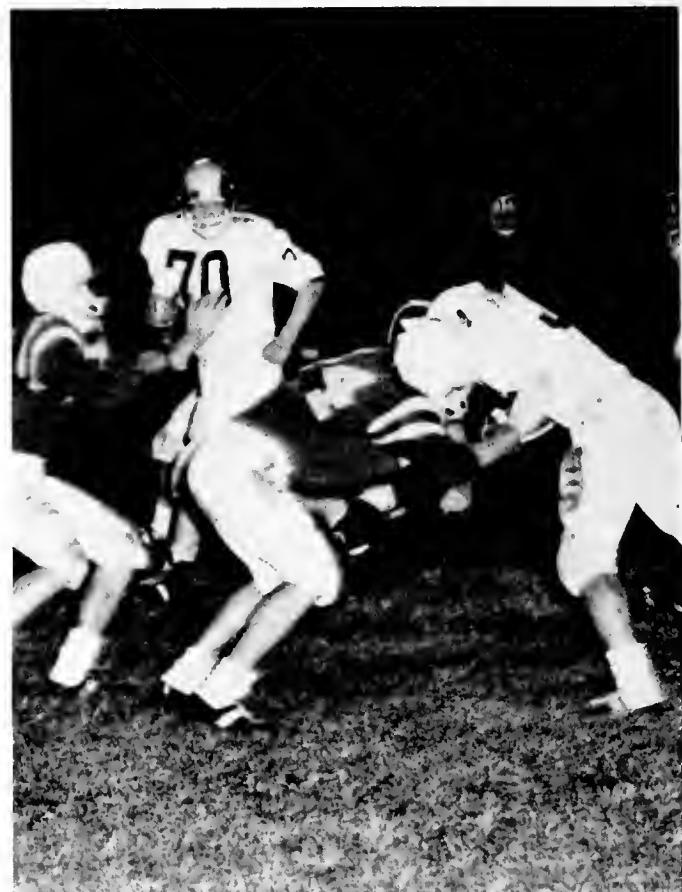

With the emphasis on defense, the 1965 varsity gridmen completed the best season of the school's short history. After winning only three games in each of the last two years, the team racked up five wins during the ten game season.

Senior fullback D. Turner gained over 700 yards rushing and was selected most valuable player on the squad. R. Pottenger scored a record high of 69 points for the ten games. Pottenger was also selected second string all-city quarterback. Turner, E. Essey, D. Jaynes, M. Godan, and T. Miller received honorable mention on the all-city squad. T. Hanley was the recipient of the scholastic award by the Kiwanis Club.

After losing the opener to Broad Ripple and falling to Shrotridge by a 12-7 count, the fired up team won the next three games over Arlington, Chatard, and Southport. The team also won over Howe and Ben Davis.

Most progressive players in practice were Noe, and Godan.

Second string all-city quarterback Roy Pottenger hands off to junior halfback Tom Beckham (partially hidden). Pottenger finished third in the city's scoring race.

Much potential shown By reserve gridders Despite 1-7-1 record

Northwest's reserve football team suffered a complete reverse from the city championship of last year's team.

The team had a record of 1-7-1. Their victory was over Ben Davis, 13-0, and the tie was achieved at Arlington, 12-12.

Coached by Jack Brown and Jim Albright, the team came on strong at the end, and varsity Coach Hamman should receive much potential next year from this year's reserves.

In forecasting the team's future, it appears that the lights will shine brighter next season. Their lone victory, coming at the end of the season, was led by the remainder of the retired freshman squad.

Dropping back to pass against North Central is junior signal caller K. Salzer. The reserve gridmen lost 0-7.

Freshmen take lumps; Ripley, Ragland score Only points for year

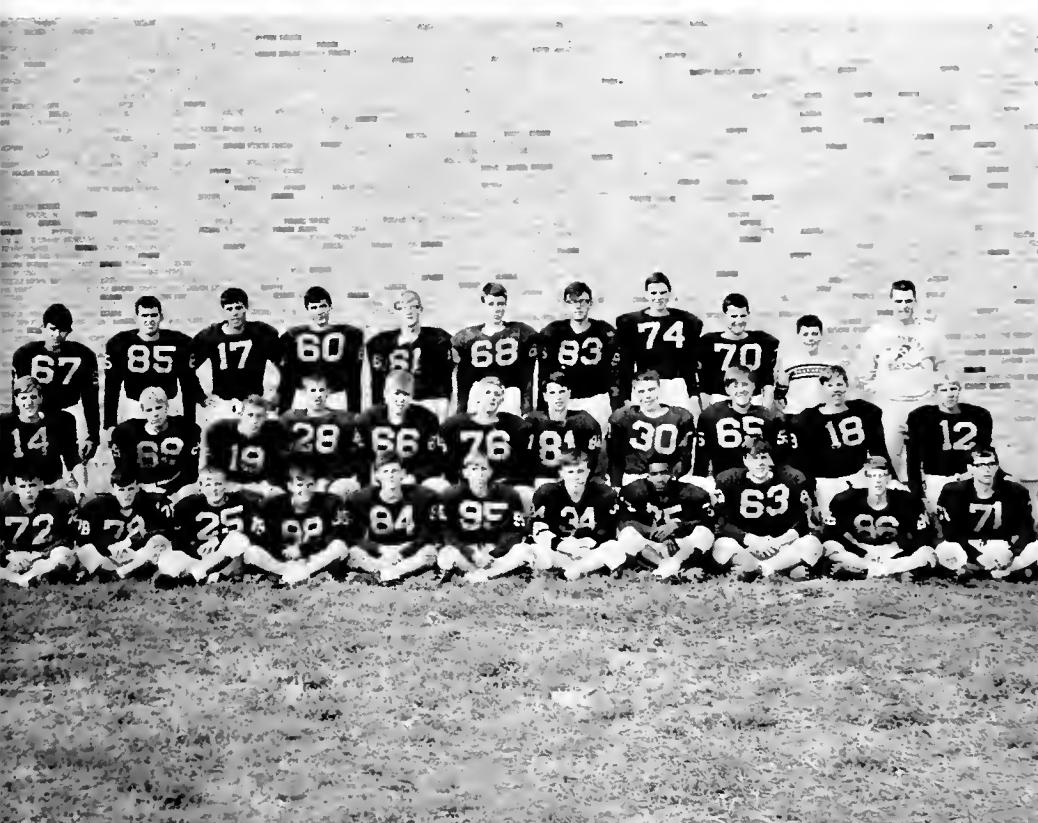

Although the Northwest freshman football team had an 0-7 record, Coach Larry Compton had some fine young players who have the potential to develop into a good, solid football team.

The freshmen were unable to score against their opponents until the last game. Ronnie Ragland dashed 60 yards for a touchdown and Barry Ripley ran the extra point.

The season ended early and some of the freshmen were called up to the reserve squad. Ripley scored seven points while with the reserves.

Blocking for quarterback Kean Salzer are freshmen Rick Whitton, Jim Crossly, and Barry Ripley.

Varsity matmen finish Seventh in city tourney; McKee third in state

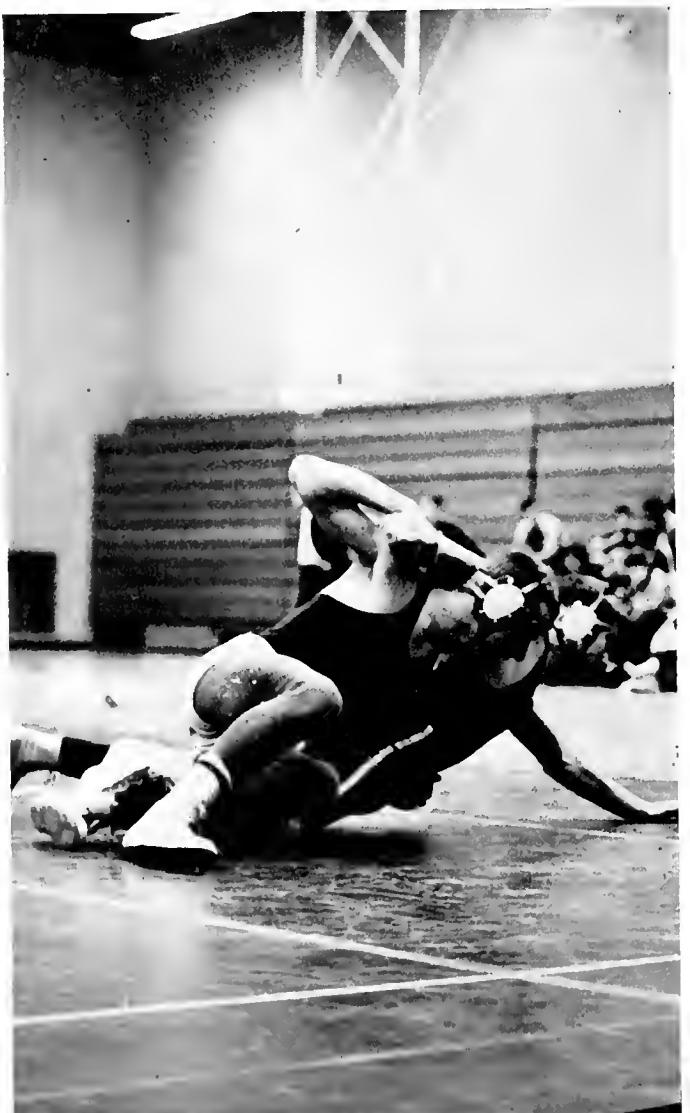

Paced by Robert McKee and Don Dotlich, the varsity wrestling team compiled an 8-6 record in dual competition. McKee placed third in the state wrestling meet while Dotlich was defeated in the finals of the regionals. Both wrestlers won their weight classes in the city. As a team, Northwest finished seventh in the city.

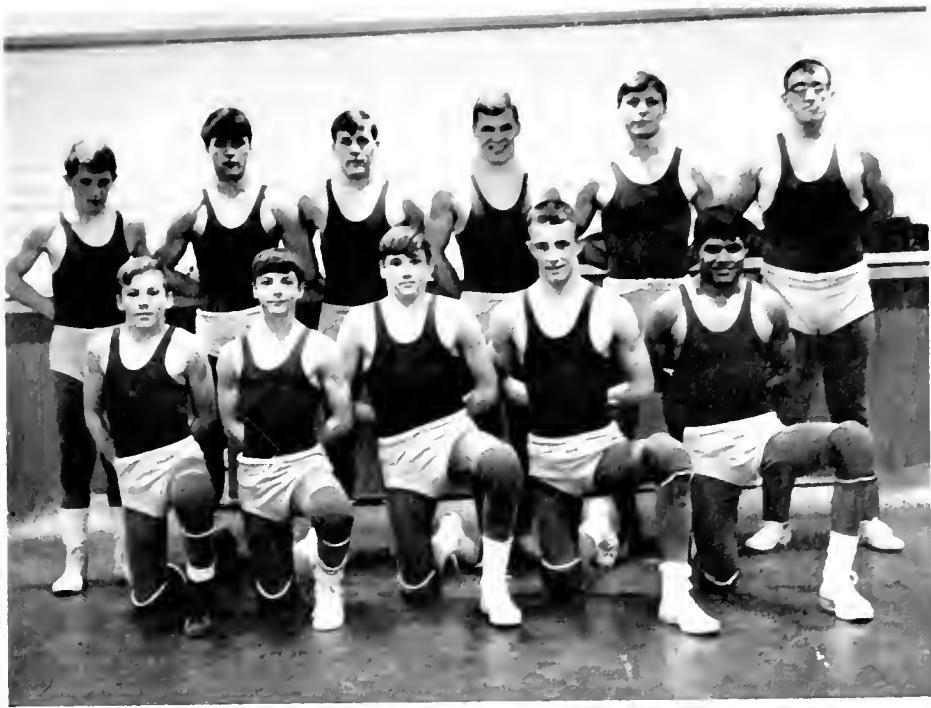

The team started out with a string of five wins before being defeated by Arlington, last year's State Champ. They then knocked off three more opponents before going into a tailspin. The grapplers dropped their last five matches. In the sectional, the team finished fourth. The wrestlers grabbed a fifth in the regional.

The reserve matmen finished with an 8-4 record in competition. Most of the reserves were composed of freshmen. Larry Atwell and Steve Mikels captured runner-up honors in the city meet. The team finished ninth in the meet.

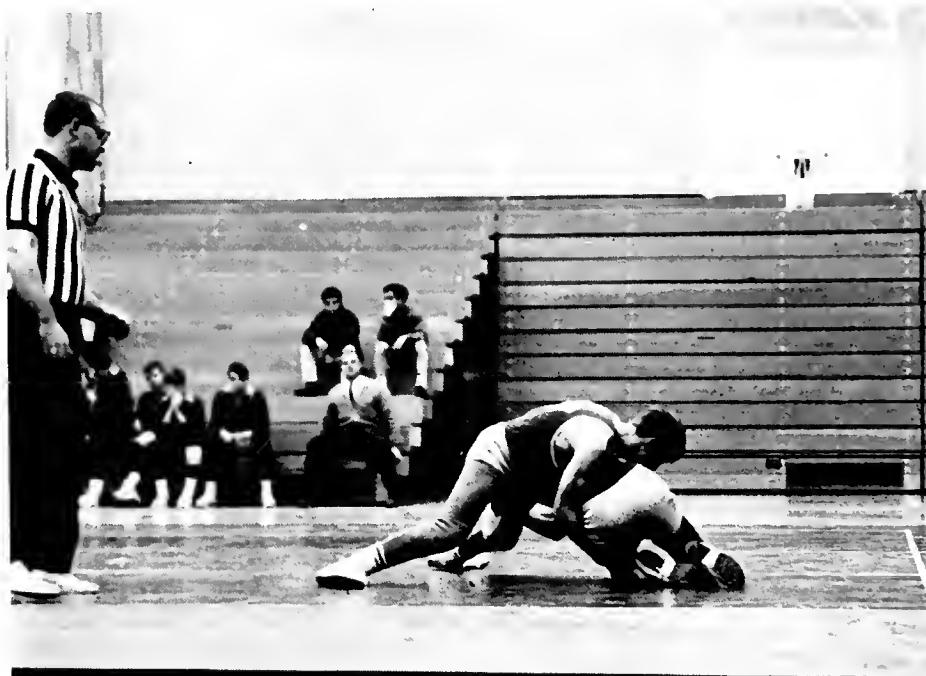

The freshmen won their only match, 38-15, over Brebeuf. Dave Downing and Mark Wolfa nabbed second-place awards in the city clash.

Getting his man in pin position is junior Don Dotlich (120). Dotlich eventually pinned his Scecina opponent in the second round.

Grabbing wrestling honors were Bob McKee (above) and Don Dotlich.

Pioneer varsity cagers Finish with 15-8 mark; Pearson sets records

Pioneers, coached by Bill Ritter, in their third season compiled the best record of their short history with 15 wins and 8 losses.

The 65-66 basketball season saw many firsts as Joe Pearson set a scoring record of 32 points in a regulation game, and the Pioneers went all the way to the championship game of the sectionals.

Starting the season off with double wins over Manual and Chartrand, the Pioneers ended the 1965 year with a 4-2 mark.

Going into the city tourney the Pioneers were 6-4. They were defeated in their first outing in the city tourney by Attucks 65-60. The next night the Pioneers defeated Cathedral in the consolation game 65-61. Finishing up the final eight games the Pioneers bowed only to number one Howe and Wood.

In sectional play the Pioneers went all the way to the final game by beating Seccina by a score of 71-65. Northwest defeated Lawrence Central 65-63 to enter the final game, and then lost to Howe.

Joe Pearson led all scorers at the sectional with 71 points and a 23 point average. Rod Smith and Joe Pearson were picked as all-sectional players by The Star. Pearson finished the regular season with a 21.3 per game performance. Smith led the city in free-throw average, .848 for the 23 game season.

Fighting Pioneers Harold Hurst and Tim Buckley battle each other for a rebound. Hurst holds the career rebound record with 426.

Reserve roundballers Establish 18-3 record; Best in NHS athletics

The reserve basketball team won fourteen out of their last fifteen games, including eight straight, to post the best record yet at Northwest.

Coached by Don Stone, who has never had a losing season at Northwest, the junior varsity displayed team basketball all year losing only to Arlington, Washington, and Manual in the city tourney.

Dick Rice and Kean Salzer paced the team in scoring with 9.9 and 9.8 points per game, respectively.

Salzer scored the most points in one game with 22 against Scecina. Rice pummeled in 20 points against Chartrand, Scecina, and Howe.

Roy Pottenger stumbles on a lay-up attempt in the Pioneers 82-57 Homecoming victory over Chatard.

Sophomore Steve Brookie tips the ball up for a valuable two points.

Inexperience proves 3-12 stumbling block For freshmen team

Hampered by lack of experience in playing together, the freshman basketballers finished with a 3-12 mark.

The team started out winning two of their first four games but an injury to the starting forward, Bill Humphrey, started them on a downslide.

The team lost their next nine games before beating Scecina, 46-43, in an overtime. Humphrey did not return after his injury.

Dave McClellan lead the frosh in scoring with 159 points. Mike Crouch followed closely with 150 points for the fifteen games.

Laying the ball on the backboard is reserve Dave Mahan.

Thinnies post 4-1 season Win sectional meet Busby sets NHS record

Team experience led the Northwest varsity cross country team to a 4-1 season and a sectional championship. The team was coached by Mr. McCarty.

Senior Dave Busby won individual honors in the five dual meets. Dave was also the first NHS thinlie to run the two miles under ten minutes with a 9:48 in the Broad Ripple Invitational.

Victories were over Chartrand, Speedway, Chatard, Scicina, and the Ben Davis Invitational. The team finished fourth in the city meet, but in the sectional the team placed first over twenty other schools. Six members were lost by graduation.

Pioneer baseball team Completes 1st winning Season with 9-6 mark

Varsity baseball team compiled a 9-6 overall record for the 1965 season and a 5-1 record in the city. Wins were over Howe, Cathedral, Arlington, Manual, and Chatard.

Within the first few weeks of the season, the city title was tied up between Howe and Cathedral. During the week of May 3, the title was thrown up for grabs by junior left-hander Rod Smith. On Monday Rod gave Howe their first defeat of the season (3-1). Later in the week Rod pitched against Cathedral and handed them their second defeat in 26 games. The Pioneers finished sixth in the city.

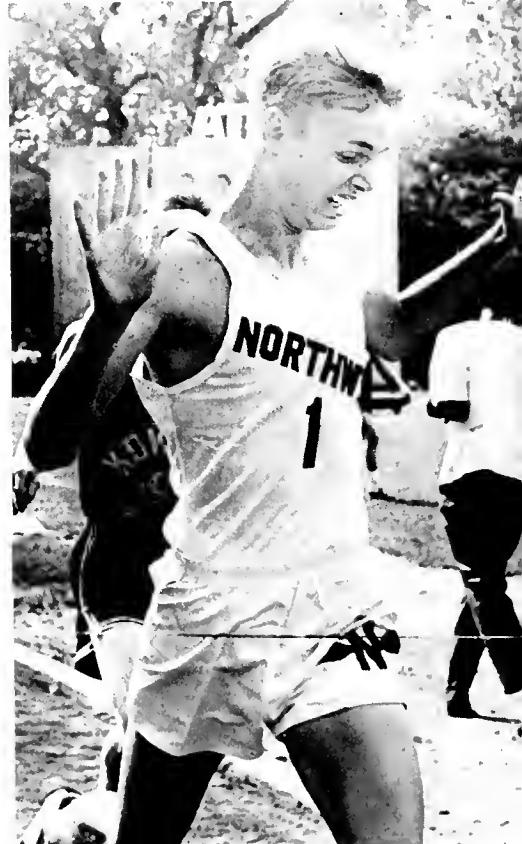

B. Keene wins state As varsity trackmen Compile 5-1 record

Led by 880 State Champ Brett Keene, the 1965 track team compiled a 5-1 dual meet record, along with two seconds in triangular meets. Keene, B. Hedges, J. Scheetz, D. Busby, D. Wortman, and both relay teams led the team to a sixth place finish in the city meet.

Coach McCarty's cindermen racked up victories over Decatur Central, Cathedral, Scenic, Wood, and Mooresville. Arlington prevented the track team from completing an undefeated season, when they nudged the Pioneers in the last dual meet.

Northwest's first state victory was recorded by Brett Keene.

Reserve thinlies post 4-1 dual meet record; Frosh finish fourth

Last spring the reserve track team finished strong with a 4-1 record. They also finished second in a triangular meet with Southport and Chartrand.

Under the coaching of Mr. Bruce Hamman, the young cindermen racked up victories over Wood, Cathedral, Mooresville, and Arlington.

Most of the reserve team members were freshmen. The frosh team had only one meet which they won. They finished in a tie for fourth place in the freshmen city.

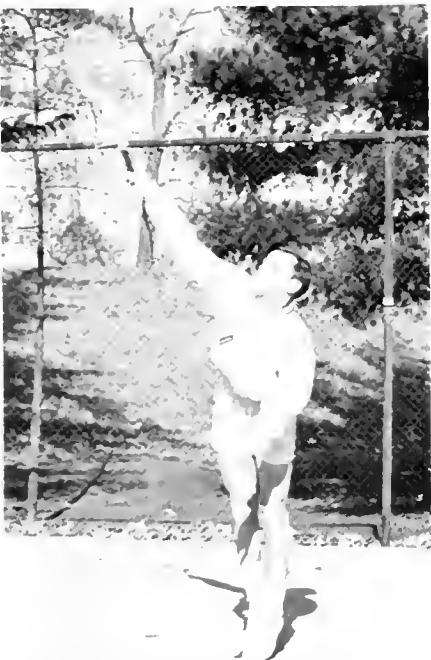

Pioneer racketmen post Disappointing season; Benford, Riggs shine

New tennis coach, Mr. Jack Brown, greeted 20 prospective players in early March with only two returning lettermen and posted a 2-11 record. Wins were over Chatard and Attucks.

In the city tournament, the squad placed 12th. The only bright moments were when Roger Riggs and freshman Steve Benford defeated their men and advanced in the tourney. Benford made it to the quarterfinals before being defeated.

VARSITY TENNIS—Ed Clendenin, Manfred Bengsch, Roger Riggs, Steve Benford.

Loosening up for an upcoming tennis match is junior Ken Riggs.

Student managers were Ludwig McKinney, Steve Snoddy, and Ron Ball.

Stoyonovich tops all As linksmen finish 2nd In City Tournament

Paced by graduating senior Mike Shanahan and junior Mike Stoyonovich, Mr. Saler's linksmen compiled a 10-4-1 record for the 1965 season.

In the city tourney, Stoyonovich captured the title of "City Medalist" when he posted the lowest score for the nine holes.

In the two-year history of the team, Mr. Saler's linksmen have run up a record of 21 victories, 11 losses, and one tie in match play.

a PIONEER

Individually

Each individual has his own personal character traits. As he travels through life, each experience he has adds another facet to his personality. These life experiences form the individual; 1800 individuals form the student body of Northwest. These 1800 will always remember the study, fun, experiences, and friends they had. NHSers never forget that they are true Pioneers.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS—Linda Switzer, alumni secretary; Tami Lane, secretary; Brett Keene, president; Mary Jane Harrington, vice-president; Ben Wills, treasurer.

Seniors recall events Of a memorable year; Make plans for future

While anticipating graduation, Northwest's second senior class recalled the many activities that made senior year a pleasant memory. Several events that last year's seniors requested became tradition in 1966. Special privileges such as lunch-line priority and recognition at pep assemblies became realities.

Events such as class rings and officers, commencement announcements, yearbooks, Senior Dress-Up Day, and the magical "Stairway to the Stars" Senior Prom caused seniors to feel a tinge of regret that the year was ended. But, roads to further education via college acceptances, scholarships, and new job opportunities, helped the class of '66 to look ahead with anticipation.

Brett Keene, the second senior class president at Northwest, is sworn in and handed the senior class gavel by Mr. Smartz.

Ordering announcements, along with measuring for caps and gowns, choosing a location and band for the prom, buying a senior class gift, and planning commencement are some of the pre-graduation formalities in which seniors participate.

Graduation draws near As seniors complete End-of-year routine

The experiments and chartered activities of last year's seniors became the traditions and routines of this year's graduating class. The life of a 66'er was filled with many activities. These functions were established as routine for every senior class at NHS, but are also very important to each individual senior and each individual class.

Filling out the role of a senior, 66ers looked to future years and careers. Many seniors spent time looking over college catalogues and filling out applications. They attended the annual Career Day and College Day with interest as they realized the information gained would help them in the near future.

Joe Pearson and Shirley Grider's names were inscribed on a plaque for being the first recipients of the Chrysler Award.

Last senior days filled With plans, activities For prom, graduation

Several activities draw the senior year to an end. Committees began in early spring to plan the Senior Prom, "Stairway to the Stars". On June 3rd seniors danced to the music of the Nick Craig Orchestra at the Indiana Roof. Most seniors ended the prom celebration at near-by state parks for their own picnics. June 5th marked the date of the Vespers program, and four years of high school came to a close on June 8th as the 369 seniors received their diplomas and became the second group of alumni from Northwest.

Ellen Albro, the number-one student scholastically for the last two years, was valedictorian at the '66 commencement.

Jackie Wilkins and Bob Goffinet discuss the day's activities as they walk to senior homeroom. Homeroom not only gives a student a chance to plan schedules but time to work on senior activities, discuss grades, and also do homework.

Senior Day provides Recognition of seniors Before Commencement

A senior's desire for distinction is common knowledge, and seniors strive for privileges that give them the chance to be separate. Twice this year seniors had this chance. The first opportunity was Senior Dress-Up Day. Seniors dressed in their best finery and wore a red rose or a white carnation.

Senior Day provided the last opportunity for senior distinction before graduation. A homeroom committee planned a program given for and by seniors. Refreshments were served by the N.P.T. and seniors received yearbooks and Syncoms at a dance.

Pioneers signed yearbooks, danced, and bought the first senior publications, Syncoms, at last year's autograph party.

From soph to seniors 66'ers history proud In activities, honors

Since 1963 '66ers have made their mark in the history of Northwest. During his sophomore year, J. Pearson won the DAR award. S. Leonard, first varsity cheerleader of the class of 66, cheered S. Gruber who was the only soph to play in the Jamboree. D. Busby won the first city-championship in cross-country, and T. Lane was voted the first Queen of the Mall. M. Godan served as secretary of the Student Council, and R. Smith was general sophomore representative.

In '64, their junior year, L. Switzer joined S. Leonard as a varsity cheerleader; and a combined nine junior boys started on the varsity football and basketball squads. In spring forty juniors joined the ranks of the National Honor Society; and S. Leonard and S. Davis were initiated into Quill and Scroll. B. Keene won the first NHS state-championship for the $\frac{1}{2}$ mile. The Junior Prom crowned B. Mitchell and J. Pearson as queen and king.

The senior year began with seniors B. Atkinson, M. Harrington, T. Lane, S. Leonard, and L. Switzer cheering varsity. L. Switzer won the title of Jamboree Queen; and the football team was backed by 15 starting seniors. The Student Council chose D. Turner and R. Smith as president and vice-president. S. Perkowski represented NHS as Princess of Light. Five able senior starters worked their way to the final game of the Sectional basketball tourney ending with a 15-8 mark. J. Pearson and R. Smith were selected for the All-Sectional team. S. Leonard and S. Davis were top editors of Vanguard, and S. Grider and P. Cook shared a year as editors of Telstar. The close of the year brought the Chrysler Award to J. Pearson and S. Grider, and E. Albro was named valedictorian of the '66 class.

Committees began work in April on the second annual senior publication, Syncrom, Wills, prophesies, and the senior history were three main features.

Among other scholastic honors awarded to her Kathy Landreth was named a finalist in the National Honor Society Competition.

Juniors gain growth In wisdom, maturity; Seniority next step

For members of the junior class, the third year of high school brought with it college preparatory tests, class rings, and the junior prom. Many athletic events, dances, and club activities added spice to the junior year.

In the spring, National Honor Society tapping and induction ceremonies rewarded those students ranking in the upper ten per cent of the junior class.

The members of the 1967 graduating class, the first students to attend Northwest for the entire duration of their high school careers, have acquired knowledge and understanding about the world in which they live. One more year of learning awaits them before graduation becomes a reality. The next step is senior homeroom and the thrill and the sense of achievement at finally becoming a fourth-year student.

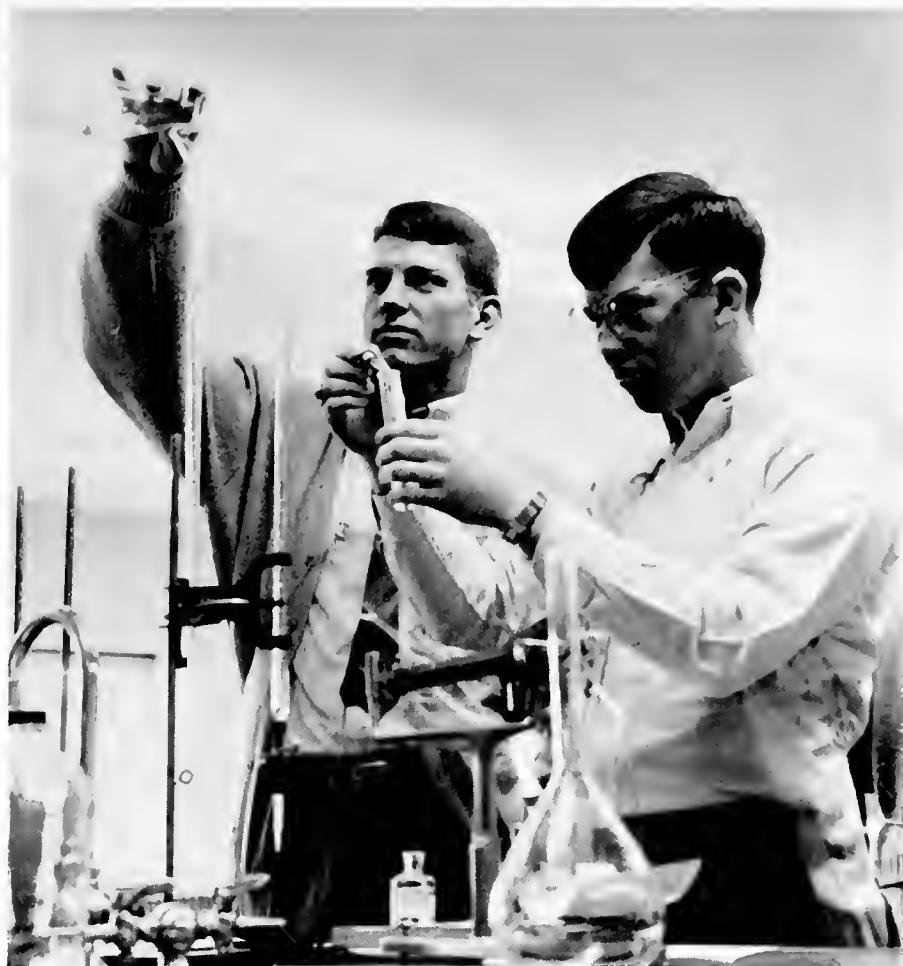

A big event during the junior year is the arrival of the class rings. These juniors proudly display their choice.

In-between year ends; Sophomores half-way In high school studies

During the sophomore year, an in-between year for high school students, the 424 class members recalled memories of freshman days and explored prospects for future years.

Throughout the year sophomores were found bisecting angles and dissecting fish in typical second-year courses. For many sophomores the second year at NHS marked the completion of foreign language courses.

Sophomores received awards for their scholastic achievements in the spring at the annual Awards Day program. Perhaps the biggest event of the year for most 10th graders was that all-important sixteenth birthday.

Dances, athletic contests, and various social affairs which spark high school life, helped students in their second year of studies to mature and prepare for years to come.

Many students use the mall as a handy short-cut from the cafeteria or gymnasium to the other end of Northwest's structure.

Freshman received an outline of school life during daily orientation classes which were worth a half credit. In this course, required for one semester, students took aptitude tests, explored career interests, and learned about school traditions.

Freshmen take plunge Into high school pool Of studies, activities

The first day of school at Northwest was a day of anticipation and confusion for wide-eyed freshmen. Six elementary schools, numbers 90, 75, 79, 61, 107, and 108, provided the many students who came to Northwest.

The bewildered freshmen were somewhat comforted by able upperclassmen who acted as "Big Brothers" and "Big Sisters" and conducted tours and answered questions for the new-comers. After the freshmen were welcomed, they were escorted into the auditorium to learn of school procedures.

Northwest enrolled its largest freshmen class in the fall of 1965 when 533 freshmen entered its halls. In January an additional eighty mid-semester freshmen were added.

Orientation, a class especially designed for freshmen, primarily introduced the 9B's to school rules. During the course the students spent time in the reading lab and were tested for academic potential and vocational interests.

Close of school year Brings final reward For Vanguard

"It takes something to be a Pioneer—you can't be a quitter." Vanguard editors know the meaning of this theme. Since the spring of '65, the '66 Vanguard has been in preparation. Through the year editors have worked industriously to record the history of Northwest in 1966. The goal of these editors was to make an accurate yearbook, but perfection can never be guaranteed.

Sherri Leonard, editor-in-chief, and Sandy Davis, associate editor, put much effort and extra time into supervising the large and important project. Niki Graig managed the business end of Vanguard, and Meg Gano dedicated her efforts to the activities section. Senior pictures and activities were gathered and written by Brenda Bryant. Steve Snoddy's main interest was in the field of sports, and Tami Lane headed the underclass album section. Indexing was Diane Lehr's main duty, and assisting the editor in copy was Ellen Albro's job. Sharon Keifer served as picture editor, and Steve Gruber as art editor. Photographer Mike McFarling was responsible for many of the pictures. Jane Kitterman promoted sales as circulation editor, and Roger LaForge acted as head cropper. The faculty pictures and copy were under the direction of Leslie Norman. Tony Shouse was in charge of patrons. Miss Maureen Cunningham served as faculty advisor.

Professional credit is extended to Associate Engraver, Loudermilk Studios, Interstate Studios, Benton Review Publishing Company, and S. K. Smith Cover Company.
